Distinguished Speakers Refer to His Services at First Baptist.

Celebrating the sixth anniversary of the pastorate of Dr. George W. Mc-Daniel, the Men's League of the First Baptist Church last night gave him a dinner in the Sunday-school rooms of the church. Though distinctly a masculine affair so far as the program read, there were nearly as many women present as men, and to them was due the decorations and the menu. The matrons selected and prepared the supper, while the young women of the church, immaculate in white caps and aprons, served a crowd that would tax the regest hotel in the city, and few were appt waiting.

Representative John S. Harwood, long one of the pillars of the First Baptist, presided over the meeting, introducing the speakers. First came Mayor D. C. Richardson, who spoke in his usual vein; then former Governor
A. J. Montague, Judge J. C. Pritchard,
President S. C. Mitchell, of South Carolina College, and Carlton McCarthy.
All spoke mainly of the church, its pastor and the work and progress of the last few years.

Dr. McDaniel was the last speaker.

The injured man was brought to the hospital in this city and was attended by Dr. H. A. Burke, who removed several pieces of the fractured bone and relieved the pressure on the brain. Mr. Ellis is still in a comatose state, but his physician has hopes of his recovery.

The negro fled immediately after the assault and has not been captured. Officers and posses are scouring the country for him, and bloodhounds have been sent for. Great indignation is felt among the white people of the country, and every effort will be made to effect the negro's capture and bring him to justice. The police of this city have been asked to keep a watch for him. So intense is the feeling that ir caught the negro may be dealt the pensity of his crime hefore the case.

SAID HE WAS PARDONED

Thomas Roadenhizer Arrested on Charge of Housebreaking in Norfolk. Thomas Roadenhizer, white, was arrested yesterday afternoon by Bicycle Policeman Gerring on a charge of housebreaking. The crime is alleged to have been committed in Norfolk three years ago.

Roadenhizer stated that he had served seven and a half months' sentence for the crime, when it was found that he was not the guiky man, and he was pardoned.

Immediately on being taken into custody he said to Officer Gerring: "I'll show you the man who put me up." He pointed out a man in a neighboring barroom, and the latter replied: "O, don't talk so much."

The case will be investigated, and if Roadenhizer's story is found to be true he will be released from further custody.

HEALTH PROVISION

Richmond County Requires Sanitary Conditions in District Schools.
One of the most important conquests in the present campaign against hookworm disease was announced yesterday by the State Health Department. This is an order by the school board of a large district in Richmond county requiring the installation of sanitary arrangements at all the public schools in the district. The Health Department is highly gratified at this action, which is the first of its kind in the State, and Dr. Allen W. Freeman, who is in charge of the hookworm work of the department, expresses the opinion that this action by the Richmond school board will not only greatly reduce the prevalence of hookworm in the county, but will set a mark for the school boards of other districts.

BODY IDENTIFIED

Frank Jarrell Identifies Dead Man As His Father.

The body of the heretofore unknown man who was found dead at the lime kiln, at Twenty-eighth and Dock Streets, two weeks ago, was identified late yesterday afternoon as that of W. A. Jarrell, of Victoria. The body was identified by the dead man's son, Frank Jarrell, who is employed in this city. The body was taken to the Billups undertaking rooms, whence the funeral will take place to-day or to-morrow, the time not having been definitely decided last night.

Jarrell had evidently sought a place to sleep at the lime kiln, and was overcome by heat and gas.

FLANNAGAN IS MISSED

Lesile's Weekly Declares Inspector's Move Will Be Bewalled in Mountaius. The decision of Dr. Roy K. Flanna. gan, State inspector, to withdraw from health work and private practice in Charlottsville, to accept a position with the State health forces, has attracted widespread attention, and has brought out many tributes to Dr. Flannagan. The most interesting of these is an editorial article from Lesile's Weekly, as follows:

"The Richmond papers recently printed a little notice on the back pages announcing the apnointment of Dr. R. K. Flannagan, of Charlottestille, Va. as director of Inspection of the State Health Department. That little piece of news didn't mean much to the busy, work-a-day world. But up in the wild valleys of the ragred mountains that scrap of information will be of more importance than the result of a presidential election, Many a strong man will go white when that news reaches those black fills, and many a ragged mountain mother will weep lears that neither mountain feuds nor poverty could wrige from her eyes. Dr. Flannagan, outside of his acknowledged position as a national authority on public health, was the Dr. MacLure of the ragged mountains. Any one who knows his lan MacLaren knows what that means. If there has been any one sick and without a doctor up in that desolate nill country for the last ten years, it has been because Dr. Finnnagan had not heard of the case. No longer alas! will the sleepy student at the University of Virginia be disturbed at midnight by the clatter of horses' hoofs coming down the Ragged Mountain road at breakneck speed. No longer will he have to explain to his green freshman roommate, 'Oh! that's just Flannagan on sis way to the mountains.' But it's raining bloody murder!' interposed the freshman. 'H—!! you can't stop him with rain,' comes from beneath the blankets. And that just about sums up Flannagan—Flannagan of Virginia."
